SECTION 11.6: REZONING TO RURAL RESIDENTIAL
(Amended 2003)

Land outside the Urban Expansion District and Orderly Annexation Area must be rezoned to "Rural Residential" prior to submitting a subdivision plat. When considering a rezoning request, the County must evaluate compatibility of near-by land uses. The County will also consider if the area can reasonably accomplish the Sustainable Design Principles outlined in the County's Comprehensive Plan. Therefore, a proposed subdivision parcel(s) may be considered for rezoning if it meets all of the following conditions:

- 11.6.1 The proposed subdivision does not take prime farmland out of production, unless it meets the rural residential characteristics criteria in #3 below, which applies to all parcels proposed for Rural Residential subdivision.
- 11.6.2 The proposed subdivision is not located in a Conservation Corridor.
- 11.6.3 The proposed subdivision is located adjacent to or contiguous with an area that has rural residential characteristics defined specifically as:
- A. A land area with an average existing density *of one home per eight (8) acres within one-quarter mile extension of the subdivision boundary of the proposed subdivision *This is calculated by determining the total area within a one-quarter mile extension of the boundary of the proposed subdivision, subtracting the area of the proposed subdivision, then dividing the remaining area by the number of homes in the remaining area. See Exhibit G for an illustration.
 - B. The proposed subdivision may be located adjacent to an existing high use recreation facility such as a golf course, but does not include wildlife management areas, conservation easements, lakes, ponds, streams, scenic areas, historical sites, or rural parkland.
- 11.6.4 The Township has provided a written statement of review and comment, including any issues or concerns, and an overall assessment of the rezoning;
- 11.6.5 Access and roadways must meet the criteria set forth in Section 2006 of the Subdivision Regulations;
- 11.6.6 A setback of one thousand (1,000) feet is required from the nearest boundary of the subdivision permitted under Section 20 of this Ordinance in a rural residential subdivision to a registered feedlot of thirty (30) animal units or more.
